

Winners of National Recipe Contest for the First-Ever, Official Mr. Food Test Kitchen – Wheel of Fortune Collectible Cookbook Announced

The Mr. Food Test Kitchen team is excited to announce the winners of the Wheel of Fortune Cookbook Recipe Contest. More than 1700 Wheel (and food) fans entered the contest for a chance to win an autographed copy of the book, an exclusive Wheel of Fortune prize package and to have their recipe (and the story behind it) featured in this official collectible cookbook that pays tribute to America's Game®. The twelve lucky winners will now become part of cookbook history in the new Mr. Food Test Kitchen – Wheel of Fortune Collectible Cookbook (due out Oct. 2015). In no particular order, here they are:

1. Cynthia Adams of Harborcreek, Pa. won with her Overnight Praline French Toast Bake, which had the entire Test Kitchen and offices filled with the aroma of vanilla and cinnamon. This breakfast bake is beyond addictive.
2. Mary Lou Allman of Bloomington, Ill. won with her Secret Ingredient Bean Salsa. We would tell you what the secret ingredient is, but why ruin the guessing game? It is, after all, for a game show-themed cookbook.
3. Shelly Frothingham of Owls Head, Maine won with an ooey and gooey Fabulous Ranch Cheese Bread that is incredibly addictive and a hit with all ages—just like Wheel of Fortune.
4. Lisa Robinson of Broken Arrow, Okla. won her husband (and the Mr. Food Test Kitchen) over with her recipe for meatloaf, which she thoughtfully named after her hubby. It's called Charlie's Kickin' Meatloaf, but whatever you call it, it's darn good.
5. Ursula Leach of Culpepper, Va. won with her German Style Prize-Winning Pork Chops recipe that remains a quick and easy weeknight favorite for her family, making it the perfect go-to supper to enjoy while watching Wheel. .
6. Pamela Williams of Laurel, Miss. won with Hawaiian Sweet & Sour Spareribs. The title is pretty mouthwatering on its own. Do we need to say anything more?
7. Lillian Dalsin of Springfield, Ill. won with her Easy Peasy Artichoke Chicken, which packs a lot of flavor with just five ingredients.
8. Sue Cullen of Stetsonville, Wis. won with her Old World Polish-Style Lasagna recipe, a potato and cheese laden twist on the classic Italian favorite.
9. Cynthia Smith of Hammond, Ind. won with her Potluck Bubblin' Baked Beans, a dish so versatile it can be made on the stovetop or in the slow cooker and so good you might want to make a double batch.
10. Cindy Burns of Crystal River, Fla. won with her favorite dessert: Mom's Chocolate Chip Cookies, the quintessential all-American cookie that needs no introduction. However, this version has a secret ingredient to give a little extra hint of vanilla and body that keeps the cookies from spreading out when they bake.
11. Chris Jensen of Catonville, Md. won with a Peaches and Cream Pie that makes any season peach season, as it can be made with fresh or canned peaches.

12. Susan Sweet-McMahon of New Port Richey, Fla. won with her Granny's Sour Cream Cake. The buttery smell of this cake alone will transport anyone to the South. (Unfortunately, we don't mean that literally.) Luckily, it has a to-die-for icing as a consolation.
