

Howard Carries on Mr. Food Tradition at Variety Club Telethon

Although we are nationally syndicated, it's important for us to be part of every community we touch. This past spring, Howard co-anchored the Variety Club Children's Telethon on WKBW in Buffalo, NY. The Mr. Food Team has been a huge part of this charity and telethon for years and now Howard proudly carries on this tradition that Art Ginsburg started so many years ago.

Howard shares a hug with Casey and Coral, past Celebrity Children of the telethon.

Howard Rosenthal, Las Vegas headliners The Scintas, and Nashville up and comer Lindsay Highlander toured the Children's Hospital of Buffalo and witnessed first-hand how the proceeds of the telethon are improving children's lives.

*"The Variety Club Telethon is absolutely one of the biggest highlights of what I do. We laugh, we cry, we connect. I wouldn't miss it for the world".

Feeding those less fortunate is what helps us say "OOH IT'S SO GOOD!!®"

The question often comes up as to what happens to all the food that we cook when we tape our show or travel around the country doing demos. Our goal is to always give back, and recently at the Bite Baldor event in NYC, we were thrilled to see all the leftover produce that we presented going to City Harvest to help feed hungry people throughout the city. We are so blessed that we can be part of helping others and we encourage you or your company to help out whenever possible.
