

We Got a Facelift!

If you've been to MrFood.com lately, you've probably noticed that we have a fresh new look and feel. With free access to thousands of triple-tested recipes, it's one of the most extensive recipe-based websites focusing on the everyday person who needs to get dinner on the table.

Our team of editors, analysts and designers are consistently working hard to ensure that our website remains one of the top recipe destinations on the internet. Kudos to all involved as we have seen an unprecedented 25% increase in unique visitors in the last year alone.

Say Hi to Our Sister

Did you know that the Mr. Food Test Kitchen has a separate website featuring recipes tailor-made for those living with diabetes, or really, for anyone who wants to eat healthier? It's just another way we have recently expanded our brand, while helping so many. As always, our goal is to make all the recipes tasty, so you don't feel like you're sacrificing anything.

This philosophy seems to be catching on as we have seen a 47% increase in unique visitors and 78% increase in pageviews this past year.

Feel free to share this site with a friend or family member.

Let's Blog About It

If you have a product, new food item or just about anything that you think our readers would be interested in, let us know! This platform allows us the chance to chat with our audience like you would to an old friend.

Check out our latest blog posts.

